

HELMET SECURE HELMET LOCK

Clever solutions to everyday problems are what every engineer strives for, and the guys at Helmet Secure hit the nail on the head with their stem-nut helmet lock. This device mounts right on your triple clamp and provides a keyed, coiled cable long enough to run around your helmet's chin bar. It's more convenient than that underseat helmet hook, provides more security, and keeps your lid and tail section from getting scratched. There's also a bar-mounted version.

ICON VICTORY METAL GOD JACKET

The gods must be crazy if this is what they wear! Icon's latest exercise in excess rivals the Italian brands' most extravagant offerings in terms of price and imagination. The Victory Metal God's vintage-washed leather chassis is adorned with 125 embedded metal skulls, as many buckles and zippers as a straitjacket, and more leather cordage than a herd of Hell's Angels.

SADDLEMEN GEL CHANNEL SEAT

Saxx isn't the only company looking after men's comfort. The Gel Channel that gives Saddlemen's new series of seats their name is specifically designed to relieve pressure on a certain delicate area. Combine that with contoured memory-foam construction and you've got one comfortable place to spend a couple hundred miles. Seats are available for a wide range of bikes in three different styles, and the many color and texture options are sure to make them stand out.

DAINESE THORAX PRO LADY

Ladies ride fast, too, and deserve the same protection as men. Dainese has been at the cutting edge of chick-specific safety gear for years, and continues to lead the charge with the Thorax Pro Lady chest protector. Part of the D-Tec line of protective gear, the Thorax Pro uses a combination of aluminum honeycomb filler inside a nylon shell topped by a polypropylene plate for even distribution of impact energy. The protector comes with adjustable nylon straps and is contoured for the female form to offer maximum protection for the thorax and ribs.

FORCEFIELD ACTION SHIRT

Sometimes the armor in jackets and pants seems like an afterthought. At Forcefield body armor gets all the attention, and when lead man Alan Zafrin introduced the new Action shirt at Indy, he sure got ours. The Action shirt puts Forcefield's renowned CE-approved Nitrex armor right where it needs to be: under your garments in lieu of the standard bits. So go ahead and yank out those chunky pads. Wear the shirt in conjunction with the company's Sub-4 back protector for complete upper body protection.
